

W4 - Capstone Project - The Battle of Neighborhoods 1

Introduction:

New York City's demographics show that it is a large and ethnically diverse city. It is the largest city in the United States with a long history of international immigration. New York City was home to nearly 8.5 million people in 2014, accounting for over 40% of the population of New York State and a slightly lower percentage of the New York metropolitan area, home to approximately 23.6 million. Over the last decade the city has been growing faster than the region. The New York region continues to be by far the leading gateway for legal immigrants admitted into the United States.

New York City has also been a major point of entry for immigrants; the term "melting pot" was coined to describe densely populated immigrant neighborhoods on the Lower East Side. As many as 800 languages are spoken in New York, making it the most linguistically diverse city in the world. With its diverse culture, come diverse food items. There are many restaurants in New York City, each belonging to different categories like Chinese, Indian, and French etc.

Problem:

Q1) list and visualize all major parts of New York City that has great Indian restaurants.

Q2) select best location in New York City for Indian Cuisine

Q3) areas that have potential Indian Restaurant Market

Q4) all areas lacking Indian Restaurants

Q5) best place to stay if you prefer Indian Cuisine
